FUNERAL OF THE FIVE VICTIMS—THE RELATIVES VISIT THE MURDERER IN JAIL.

From the St. Paul (Minn.) Pioneer.

The curtain has fallen upon another act in the fearful Oakdale tragedy. The fact being generally known that the funeral services of the ill-fated mother and her four children would take place at St. Mary's church yesterday the church was crowded, and a number were collected about the doors. About 12 o'clock the sad procession of the bodies of the victims, the mourning relatives and sympathizing neighbors and friends, in carriages, wagons, on horseback, and on foot, arrived at the church. The five coffins were removed to the foot of the altar, the mother in the centre and two of the children on each side. The sad, unusual sight, drew tears from the eyes of almost all present. The solemn and impressive services for the dead of the Catholic church were read by Rev. Father Colliett, the choir chanting the responses. At the conclusion of the services Father Colliett delivered a brief discourse, alluding to the fearful calamity which had occurred, and pointing the mourning friends to the Heavenly Father as the only source of consolation in such deep affliction, and requested the congregation to unite with him in repeating the Lord's Prayer. The procession then moved to the burial ground, where all five bodies were deposited in one grave.

The sorrowing relatives then directed their steps to the wretched living. At this meeting there were present the aged father, two brothers and two sisters, and several neighbors and friends of the family. The prisoner had passed a quiet night, and had been considerably relieved by medicine prescribed by Dr. Smith, the attending physician. He appeared more rational, and conversed with Sheriff Grace during the day, by whom he had been informed that the funeral of his wife and children was taking place.

On the arrival of the party at the jail, Mr. Grace went to notify Gray of their presence, and to prepare him in a measure for the interview. When they appeared at the entrance to the corridor (where he could see them, however,) he became excited, and cried loudly to be released, that they were coming to hang him. When they formed a weeping circle around him he quieted somewhat, but still his eyes rolled from one to the other with a vacant, meaningless stare. It was some time before the father's emotions would permit him to address his unhappy son. He then asked his son if he knew him. He answered, "Yes, father!" and immediately exclaimed, "I done it!" "I killed them all!" His father then asked him if he was sensible of what he had done. He answered in a loud voice, "I am!" "Are you sorry for it?" "I am!" He was then asked several questions, but his answers to most of them were rambling. His eyes would roll in speechless, nameless misery, and he would cry out, "I done the deed.' "I done it in cool blood." "They are all gone to Heaven." &c.

He was then allowed, to become quiet again, and then asked if he wanted to go home? With a sigh of unutterable woe he exclaimed: "Oh! I am going to hell! I can't repent. Take me out and hang me!" His brothers and sisters spoke to him, and shook his manacled hands, weeping bitterly. He recognized them all, and called them by name. He also recognized the neighbors who were present, and also Mr. McAllister, of this city, who knew the family in Pennsylvania. When asked why he did the deed, he replied: "I was tired of my life that morning." "But why did you kill your wife and children?" "I wanted them out of the way! Oh! I cant repent!" &c. And then he broke out in an agonized tone: "As true as God is my judge, I did not know what I was doing that morning." He seemed greatly excited, and seemed to writhe in more than mortal agony. After this paroxyism he became rambling in his talk again, and his weeping relatives turned to leave. By the advice of Sheriff Grace they did not take formal leave of him. His father simply said he was going, but would come in and see him again every day. He took no notice of their departure, and did not seem to be aware that they had left for some time. All at once he cried out, "God Almighty knows they are all innocent. I done the deed. They know nothing of it. I struck her on the head with the grubbing hoe."

In all his talk concerning the murder he has strickly adhered to the first statement, published on Thursday morning. No definite arrangements have been made concerning his custody hereafter, but an effort will be made to remove him to the Insane Asylum by Monday next.

HORRIBLE MURDER BY NEGROES—SWIFT RETRIBUTION.

From the Marshall (Texas) Republican.

We have just heard of an affair in Rusk county that forms a climax of horror. The circumstances as detailed to us are as follows:

A young man by the name of Colonel Green, who is said to have been a new settler in the county, left Henderson on Saturday evening last, in a state of intoxication, for home. When he got about seven miles from town, on the Marshall road, he stopped at the widow Griffin place, where a body of negroes were making a crop, and ordered his supper. While eating it he was seized by five negroes, who tied his hands behind him, and dragged him about a half mile and hung him. They treated him very brutally, throwing him over the fences as they reached them, bruising his face and otherwise maltreating him. While he was hanging they rolled back a log, dug a trench, threw him in it before life was extinct, and then rolled the log back to its former place. Two of the negroes were preachers. The principal one engaged in the murder (Julius Jones) stood by with a gun, directing the others, and telling them he would kill the first one that flinched. The same negro went the next day to Henderson, preached a sermon, and baptized fourteen negroes.

Green is represented as a refined, intelligent, accomplished gentleman, but who occasionally, unfortunately, got intoxicated. His friends missing him, it seems found his horse at this plantation, and his hat at one of the cabins. On searching for him, they traced his footsteps upon the route he had been carried, and found a letter that had dropped out of his pocket.

Five negroes were arrested, who confessed the crime, and were taken to Henderson and placed in jail. This was on Monday. On Tuesday night, about 11 o'clock, a mob went to the jail, and hung every one of them on the public square fronting each side of the court-house, the two preachers together.

A WEDDING PARTY BREAKS UP IN A ROW.

[From the Cincinnati Commercial.]

Last night, about half past ten o'clock, a row occurred in a dining room of a saloon kept by a man named William H. H. Koo, at No, 532 Sixth street, between Freeman & Carr streets, during which two men were badly stabbed. The circumstances leading to the affray are, in substance, as follows: A German named Otto Hare was married, early in the evening, and had invited his friends to the wedding. After the marriage ceremony had been performed musicians were sent for, and the parties present joined in the dance, and several times the whole party took a drink at the bar attached to the house. The party soon became boisterous, and one of them—a man named Ben Whittle—got into an altercation with one John Rapp. They began by using insulting epithets toward each other, which led to blows, and finally Whipple drew a knife, and was about to thrust it into the body of Rapp, when a bystander, named George Ehl, grasped him, and threw him down, in order to prevent him from committing the rash act. Just at this time Rapp rushed into the crowd and stabbed the bridegroom, Hare, in the left side, inflicting a very ugly wound. About the same time, a young man, named Charles Harmer, an employee of John Builteshire, a butcher, was struck with a carving-knife by some one in the crowd, and cut on the right side, right under the false rib and near the liver. Officers Stiles and Wilkinson, hearing the noise, at once entered the saloon, and arrested Ehl—the other participants in the melee having escaped—and took him to the Third-street station-house, where a charge of assault and battery was preferred against him. At midnight Harmer was lying in a very critical condition, and is not expected to recover. No clew has been obtained relative to the whereabouts of either Whipple or Rapp, the two principal offenders.

HINTS CONCERNING KEROSENE.

A REMEDY FOR SEVERE BURNS.

From the Springfield Republican.

Scarcely a week passes during the winter months but we read accounts of frightful accidents from kerosene lamps exploding and killing, or scarring for life, men, women and children. A simple knowledge of the inflammable nature of the fluid would probably put a stop to nearly all the accidents. As the oil burns down in the lamp, a highly inflammable gas gathers over its surface, and as the oil decreases the gas increases. When the oil is nearly consumed a slight jar will often inflame the gas, and an explosion is sure to follow, dealing death and destruction. A bombshell is not more to be dreaded. Now, if the lamp is not allowed to burn more than half way down, such accidents are impossible. Always fill your lamps every morning; then you need fear an explosion.

Half a teaspoonful of salt added to the oil of a lamp which holds a pint will take away the disagreeable odor sometimes apparent, and it is said to prevent the formation of that dangerous gas. It is a simple remedy, easily applied. It is also asserted that the salt makes the oil last much longer, but we have only heresay evidence concerning it.

Kerosene is the best antidote for a severe burn or scald. Immerse the injured part in cold water for a moment; dry with a soft cloth, taking care not to rub at all. Then bathe in kerosene, and the terrible pain soon ceases. We know of a little child who put his foot and leg into a pail of nearly boiling water. The above remedy was applied, and in a few minutes the child's screams ceased. We know not of the philosophy of the matter, but we do know that it is the most efficacious remedy for severe burns or scalds in the materia medica.

HOW TO CURE A HUSBAND.

A woman, whom her husband used frequently to scold, went to a cunning man to inquire how she might cure him of his barbarity. The sagacious soothsayer heard her complaint; and after pronouncing some hard words, and using various gesticulations, while he filled a vial with colored liquid, desired her, whenever her husband was in a passion, to take a mouthful of the liquor and keep it in her mouth for five minutes. The woman, so overjoyed at so simple a remedy, strictly followed the counsel which was given her, and by her silence escaped the usual annoyance. The contents of the bottle being at last expended, she returned to the cunning man anxiously begging to have another of the same virtue. "Daughter" said the man, "there was nothing in the bottle but brown sugar and water. When your husband is in a passion hold your tongue, and my life, on it, he, will not scold you."

COLORED MEN IN OFFICE.—General Grant, since his inauguration as President, has made the following appointments of colored men: Postmaster at Columbia, S. C., worth $3,000 a year; assessor of the first district of Louisiana, worth $1,200 a year; two justices of the peace in the District of Columbia, worth $1,000 a year each; minister to Hayti, worth $4,500 a year; minister and consul to Liberia, worth $5,000 a year.

A PRESS CONVENTION.

The Raleigh Sentinel mentions the propriety of holding a Press Convention in June and votes for Goldsboro as the point d'appui. We agree with our respected cotemporary that a convention should be held. We should have uniform rates for job printing and advertising. In some parts of the South the Printing Profession has been shamefully reduced by mere scratchadoodles who know as little about a printing Office as a John donkey does a velocipede, and who believe themselves "called" to do humming for quacks and patent medicines as well as to circulate a column or so of nosy trash editorial every week. We go for the Convention.

REGISTER YOUR DEEDS.

The Raleigh Sentinel mentions that the General Assembly has passed a law requiring all deeds of lands to be registered on or before the 1st of October 1869. If a person fails to register his deed before that time, a subsequent purchaser of the same land, from the former owner, for valuable considerations without notice, will have title, notwithstanding the prior deed.

THE VIRGINIA CONVENTION.

A Convention of the Conservatives of this State is to meet the 28th. If these gentlemen without any lip gymnastics will quietly and unanimously unite upon Walker for Governor—he may be elected and Wells and the negro be placed in the archives of gravity." And then if the authorities at Washington do not choose to object to Walker as a "rebel"—because the conservatives voted, for him—the Virginians may well pride themselves on having done a smart thing. But if the authorities do object—then Wells and the negro will peg their tents in the happy land of Canaan, and the Richmond Enquirer and Lynchburg News will be the only two newspapers in that State who can crow loud without exposing a grain of dirt in their craws. But we trust no objection will be made to Walker. It certainly seems to us the best policy to support him. Policy and dirt—you know—go together.

We are tired of this thing called a REPUBLICAN GOVERNMENT.

We are sick of seeing the people presided over by politicians as the fishermen preside over the fishes—to catch them in drags or bait them to death on soft mush and sugared bait.

We are tired of this thing called SUFFRAGE. Whereby the people as a mass, (who are always silly things when taken collectively,) vote like idiots for the very worst men over the very best.

What is this structure that the people of the United States in the full exercise of their suffrages have erected? It is a structure that they have once torn half way down and have ever threatened to destroy.

It is an old mansion house that part sleep in and part sleep out and both sides are smartly disgusted with.

It is a habitation for duck legged justices that can neither spell nor expound the law; for congressmen and legislators the majority of whose spirits will never fly higher than their heads towards heaven; and for swashing bullies and swaggering blackguards whose ambition it is to strut "cock of the walk" at home and to clean out "any" other man for office in the "Dee-strict." It will not be always thus though. Things are working.

OBITUARY.

The name of Rev. D. W. Thompson of Orange Co., N. C. appears among the names of the noble dead. I say noble, yes, with more than usual propriety; for as a husband, father, neighbor and friend, he had comparatively few equals; and as a Christian, he was a rare case, for his soul was ever full of faith in God and the spirit of devotion, even under the most extraordinary circumstances of life—amid secular reverses and temporal misfortunes. In a word, he was one of the few who lived to die, and has died to live, not only in the affliction and memory of those with whom he was associated in this life, but in the unchanging fullness of Him who dwells in light unapproachable.

Bro. Thompson was about 58 years old when he died; served in the ministry some twenty years; more than seven years of that time he was an active colporteur, spreading far and wide the Word, with an unexceptionable example, and many prayers and precepts by which he accomplished much, doubtless, for the cause of Christ. But his labors and reverses have ceased, and he has gone to realize those pleasures of heaven of which he so often spoke, and for which so much of his time and worldly pleasure was sacrificed.

Let me here say to the bereaved companion, children and friends, that you cannot sorrow as those who have no hope for, amid the sorrows caused by this dark and mysterious providence of God, you have the soul-sustaining evidence of his eternal state of blessedness. True, you have lost one of the most devoted and faithful companions, and a tender father, and the church one of her most faithful and heroic veterans. May God help you to follow his example, that your last days may be like his. J. R. BALL.

CAUTION! WE desire to warn the dealers in, and consumers of snuff generally, that since the war, certain tobacco manufacturers, being unable to find a market for their snuffs, felt themselves obliged to counterfeit the general appearance of our packages, and imitate our Trade Marks, so that a close inspection is necessary to detect the spurious article from the genuine, and others going so far as to assert that "Lorillard's Snuff is no longer made."

In making this publication we desire to warn the public against the impositions practiced upon them; as they are the losers thereby. It will be found upon comparison that Lorillard's Snuff is "far ahead" of all others, being made of the best stock, after an original and secret process known only to ourselves, besides possessing great age, strength and pungency, and is warranted not to contain any dangerous or deleterious substances, which cannot be said of the many worthless articles put on sale by others. The best is the cheapest in the end. A circular will always be mailed on application. In ordering please specify if Salt Snuff (High Toast,) or Fresh Snuff (Extra Scotch) is desired.

Lightning—Death—Marriage.

From our Milton Correspondent.

Lightning struck two trees in the Baptist church yard and shocked several persons that were near by. I learn that during the same storm lightning struck a tree at Connallys meeting house 3 miles from this place and tore it all to pieces scattering it all over the yard.

I learn from Mr. Richard Crowder, that lightning struck a tree close to his house and that Mr. Wilkins Bruce's Granary was struck by lightning during the time and badly shattered but was not set on fire.

I learn that some thief stole a fine sheet from William R. Wareham one night this week.

Mr David L Brandon died at his residence last Saturday night the 17th instant aged 58 years.

Married in Person county on the 17th instant by Jesse Brooks, Esq, Mr. Thomas Davenport to Mrs. Martha Jacobs all of said county. Q.

Negro Marauders at Chapel Hill

On last Friday night 3 negroes who were thought to be deserters from a detail at New Orleans had a high old time at Chapel Hill. About 2 o' clock at night they had nearly forced an entrance into the parlor of Mr. Carr, but that gentleman rousing up they ran away. They then went to the Confectionery of Elmore Woods and had forced the bars from the window and were about to enter, when Tony Jenkins, a faithful negro, gave the alarm and the rogues were scotched in that attempt. They next went to Judge Battle's and prowled through his deserted house and office. Next to Prof. Patrick's but here, too, a negro scared them off. They then went into a room adjoining Prof. Martin—but that gentleman awakening from the light of a match gave the party chase in dishabille. The party stopped and fired a shot at the Professor, but without effect. They then reinnassed the place and struck Mordecai's warehouse on the Raleigh road. Mr. Coates was from home, and the marauders—being well armed—drove the person in charge off, and themselves took possession of the house. They plundered to suit themselves and, we learn, carried off a large amount of bacon with them. Two of this party were negro guards that had been stationed at the University; their names were Williams and Brent.

Since the above was put in type we have learned from our correspondent at Chapel Hill that Mr S. sustained a small loss.

Roguery.

Sunday night week Judson Riley had a raid made on his smoke house and last Saturday night nearly all of his meat was stolen.

The seed from the potato bed of Mr. Collins was stolen out of the ground last week.

James Turner had 2 shoats stolen last week.

Religious.

Rev Mr Crawford—of the Methodist church in this town—will preach by appointment at New Shands on the fourth Sunday in May at 4 o'clock in the evening. The people of this section will probably secure the services of this excellent young divine to preach for them occasionally.

T. L. Gipson.

The name that heads this paragraph is that of a Fashionable Merchant Tailor in Danville, Va., who is the Napoleon of the shears in the South, and whose "fits" cannot be surpassed by Broadway N. York. Being in Danville, recently, we dropped into his establishment to look at his large and beautiful stock of Goods, and his Cloths, Cassimeres and Vestings were lovely to behold. If you want a star suit, at New York cost, don't send or go to the North to get it, but take our advice and go to Gipson—he can fill your bill.

Strange—If True.

"Whenever you see Jimmie Jones—'bout 5 miles from here, ask him about a sow of his having a young lamb," said a country friend to us the other day. He said that it was the talk among his neighbors that a sow of Mr. Jones had given birth to a litter of 4 pigs and one lamb. That the lamb sucks with the pigs and has the eyes of a hog with the hind quarters of a sheep. We have not seen Mr. Jones and of course can neither confirm nor deny this curious story.

A Return.

Mr Finch—of this town—has just returned from a trip to Illinois. Don't like—a bit. Corn was selling for 15cts a bushel at Decatur when he left—but the people were cold and selfish, and climate unbearable. Says—"I have travelled over a heap of States but North Carolina is the best of all." That's us.

For Tennessee.

A company of about 25—comprising the families of the Messrs. Sikes, Dodson, Oates, and others, left here Friday morning for middle Tennessee. Honest hard working people. The women themselves being inured to service in the field. We regret to chronicle their departure.

Rives and Proctor.

In noticing this splendid Drug House last week—we located it in Norfolk—when it should have been Petersburg. A correction was hardly necessary: for so well known is this house to the reliable Trade of this country that all would have noticed the mistake.

Dead.

We understand that the body of a Miss Cowles was taken off the cars yesterday to be conveyed to her home in the vicinity of South Lowell. She left home six weeks ago and has been teaching school in Edgecomb county. She died of brain fever.

THE MILLER'S DAUGHTER.

BY ALFRED TENNYSON.

It is the miller's daughter,
And she is grown so dear, so dear,
That I would be the jewel
That trembles at her ear:
For, hid in ringlets day and night,
I'd touch her neck so warm and white.

And I would be the girdle
About her dainty, dainty waist
And her heart would beat against me
In sorrow and in rest
And I should know if it beat right,
I'd clasp it round so close and tight.

And I would be the necklace,
And all day long to fall and rise
Upon her balmy bosom,
With her laughter or her sighs,
And I would lie so light, so light,
I scarce should be unclasped at night.

Farm Yard Scraps.

An Ohio man suggests as a test of good corn that an ear be enclosed in a paper wrapper, then taken out and shelled; the nearer the wrapper is filled, the better the corn.

It is said that passing a red-hot iron over old putty will make it so soft that it may be readily removed.

Hard water for cooking is decidedly bad. Many vegetables are nearly spoiled by being cooked in it; and it is difficult to get a good infusion of tea or coffee in hard water.

With a large number of hands, one does bad work, another follows suit, until all get to cheating—so many the boss can't tell who does the bad work.

Antiquarians are agreed that the earliest implements used for the cultivation of the soil was of the pick kind. A medal of the greatest antiquity, dug up at Syracuse, contained an impression of such an implement, and its progress until it became a plough has been recognized in a cameo published by Menestrier, on which a pick-like plough is drawn by two serpents. (London's Enc.)

Value of Birds on the Farm.—"What are you looking at that plaguey sapsucker for?" inquired one of the men. "Shoot it; it is the scamp that spoils all our fruit trees." "Pooh," I replied, "that bird is no sapsucker. Don't you see that the stub is dead, and there is no sap in it?" "That makes no difference," exclaimed one of the others; "it is only amusing itself knocking off the bark; it is a humbug." "Humbug or not," said the first man, "we'll see what it is made of;" and before I could prevent him he seized my gun and shot the bird. At that moment a red-headed woodpecker alighted on a tree near by, and at the exclamation from one of the men, "There's another sapsucker," the man, who still held the gun, fired the loaded barrel, and the second bird fell to the ground. I saw an opportunity had arrived in which a useful lesson might be taught these men. Taking the birds, I showed, though they had been regarded as of the same species, they were entirely different, and consequently but one could be the true sapsucker. I then proceeded to dissect both specimens. In the stomach of the yellow-bellied woodpecker I found the grubs of five boring beetles, the wings of at least a dozen small wood-eating beetles, some ants, and a little vegetable matter. In the stomach of the red headed woodpecker were two or three of the stones of some small berries, some ants, a beetle, and seven grubs or borers. It was a tangible fact to these men that the woodpeckers, instead of subsisting upon the sap of trees, were eminently insect feeders, and it was gratifying to me to hear them, a day or two afterward, telling some of their friends what I had discovered to them, and cautioning them against killing "sapsuckers."

Spice.

A newspaper asked the following question: "Why do hens always lay eggs in the day time?" An answer was received: "Because at night they are roosters."

Price of gray hair in Paris; "Gray hairs sell for a cent apiece. Hair dressers inquire of their customers for them, and beg that they may be saved from the comb, in dressing. Gray hair is the most expressive and difficult to obtain."

"Clyde, Ohio, has what is called a 'Knitting Machine.' A crowd of ladies walk into a drinking saloon, take possession of all the seats, and quietly settle down at knitting. This stops the customary business of the place."

"How well he plays for one so young!" said Mrs. Partington, as the organ boy performed with a monkey near the door; "and how much his little brother looks like him, to be sure."

An exchange, in speaking of the magical strains of a hand organ, says: "When he played 'Old Dog Tray' we noticed eleven pups sitting in front of the machine on their haunches, brushing the tears from their eyes with their fore-paws."

"Haow's trade, squire?"

"Wall, cash trade's kinder dull naow, major."

"Dun anything terday?"

"Wall, only a leetle—on a credit. Aunt Betsy Pushard has bort an egg's worth of tea and got trusted for it 'till her speckled pullet lays."

During a recitation on natural history, in one of our well known colleges, a student in the pursuit of knowledge concerning the habits of animals, said: "Professor, why does a cat, while eating, turn her head first one way, and then the other?" "For the reason," replied the Professor, "that she cannot turn it both ways at once."

Scene in Virginia.—Sable gentleman, in the voice of Stentor: "Taters!"

Coffee-colored dame: "Hush dat racket; you distracks de whole neighborhood."

Sable gentleman: "You kin hear me, kin you?"

Coffee-colored dame: "Hear you? I kin hear you a mile!"

Sable gentleman: "Glad of dat, glad of it! I'se hollerin' to be heerd! 'Taters!"

With which cry he touched up his lean horse and moved on.

A MOST WONDERFUL AND SUCCESSFUL INVENTION!

New Method of Washing Clothes without Labor.

THE AUTOMATIC

Clothes Washer and Boiler.

Awarded the highest Testimonial wherever Exhibited.

Rev. M. W. Staples, Inventor and Patentee.

THIS BOILER is self-acting, and dispenses entirely with labor and the wear of clothes. The hot suds and steam by the action of fire, are driven up through tubes, poured upon the clothes, and forced through the fabric with astonishing rapidity, cleansing it perfectly without any rubbing. It has been thoroughly tested, and pronounced unequalled as a Clothes Washer, by those who have used it.

All fabrics, from the finest laces to the bed-blanket can be washed perfectly and with ease and without the aid of the rubbing board. For Flannels it is invaluable, as the rubbing, rolling and pressing process must necessarily full them more or less.

It is truly a labor and clothes saving invention. Washing will no longer be a hardship, and washing day no longer a terror and a dread to housewives.

The invention can be used in any boiler, and the low price of the article places it within the reach of every family.

The saving in the wear of clothes will soon pay for the outlay.

It is estimated that 200 to 300 gallons of boiled suds pass through the clothes in thirty minutes; this being the longest time required for cleansing a boiler full of clothes.

Hundreds of these Boilers are being sold each week, giving perfect satisfaction.

Every boiler sold guaranteed to do all we claim, or money refunded.

The undersigned, as Agent for J. R. Hunter & Co., of Portsmouth, Va., (who have the right for this State) has commenced the Manufacture of these Boilers and will furnish the citizens of Orange and Chatham, and will, as stated above, take back and refund money for any Boiler which fails to give perfect satisfaction, and do all claimed for it.
